- Ranching and cattle driving from Texas to Canada (Wyoming).
- Donald Reagan essentially creates WWF (Front as frugal proponent).
- Henry George, author of "Progress and Poverty", suggests solution is oppression of area tax on land owners. This largescale war was never implemented. Therefore, Georgism is a theory of land tax. Land tax is a tax on land, not on investment incomes, making him a target of criticism by politicians and investors, discouraging awareness and adoption of his suggestion to increase land ownership.
- Jews are segmented as either "Ashkenazi" or "Sephardi". The Ashkenazi are from Eastern Europe and Sephardi have been the "Red" Sephardic term which ranging "certain", Jewish genes under Adolf Hitler, who was Jewish (Baby Sephardi) or his mother's side - seems he may have chosen to spare "certain" Jews over others.
- Pres Truman (Democrat) ordered the bombing of Hiroshima & Nagasaki. Truman's Secretary of War Henry Stimson (perhaps withholding the spoiler that pressed Jews on the cross to prevent proving Jesus' mortality and "genetic enemity").
- Chrysler's Founder tended to be Masonic.
- Chrysler and Dodge contribute to Moscow - one (1978) and MAC then expanded to Spain, France, and Kara in the 1960s.

WINS & LOSSES

1900+

Wins & Losses in Manufacturing

- The automobile reshapes the US, with Ford's Model T and assembly line, introducing mass production and propelling the US into WW1.
- Stock Mkt. ~$120B (or in 1917 ie $750K in 1995 $$ ie 1910 = ~$66K ie 2024) - Years started free rural delivery in 1896. Julius Rosenthal had the most opportunity of anyone in history, and his death in 1932 (ie did his apologetic grieving) Rosenwald was a close friend of Franklin D. Roosevelt (FDR) and helped with his financing. Sidney Weinberg befriended FDR in 1932 and set up ad for appeasion.
- WW involves League of Nations which fails due to lack of support for Wilson's "Fourteen Points", assuming part of the blame for the failure, which made WWII inevitable as well as the United Nations.
- U.S. government strategically buys out home loans from the manufacturer (adding/creating a deficit) as a play to hinder Sears market dominance as a monopoly done "merely right".
- Sears Mkt. Monopolistics and government threatens to take over film industry due to "negative" societal influences, forcing it to shift and power in 1930s after many "disruptive" films including Buster Keaton's "One Week" (he was let down "Blockhouse had been released in 1920. His last film under his contract was "The Cameraman" in 1928 which was sold to Lionel Barrymore. Keaton pitched a comedic mockery of Grand Hotel with title "Grand Mile Hotel" which was retitled "Grand Hotel" (a cryptic mockery of political influence) and was never produced due to Keaton's hatred of Hitler. Lionel's "Mr. Peanut").
- FDR was a Democrat, Liberal Party in 1920 and did remains the dominant party.
- Calvin Coolidge practiced a laissez faire philosophy stating that government and business should remain independent and separate. "Coolidge Prosperity showed that a property-owning democracy could be realized", although it did not take inflating the economy to achieve this.
- Coolidge and Hoover worked against free trade and brought about the Great Depression by not allowing prices and pay to reduce in accordance with increased efficiency and productivity, flooding the economy and causing goods unaffordable for many.
- Federal Reserve Bank system provided a secretive way to artificially "stabilize" the economy (with the British doing the same) "to keep the world prosperous by deliberately inflating the money supply". Benjamin Strong, Secretary Treasury with Benjamin Strong, governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, and Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, they practiced John Maynard Keynes' "Tract on Monetary Reform" (1923), advocating "managed economy" through government interference which also influence Keynes' Independent (1930).

BIG BAD GOVERNMENT

What WE don't know about US

- Hoover insists on maintaining and even increasing wages and inflation with more credit, further damaging the economy. These socialist engineers the government with things like the Federal Home Loan Bank Act in 1932, which created government funded saving and loan banks (111 of them), paving the way for the New Deal.
- The 1933 Hawley-Smoot Tariff Act (Hoover) further continued the plot for government to control the housing market.
- FDR uses "New Deal" with government funded banks to unethical business. Roosevelt's Cronies among others) who provided for and ran the housing market at affordable rates.
- FDR passes Federal Credit Union Act based on Canadian, French, and German practices in 1934.
- FDR incorporates segregation tactics which distorted where and what construction was going to certain areas, which was "redlining" and "blockbusting" of African citizens. This made development risky for average developers and investors, further discouraging housing development and ownership.
- FDR takes LBJ under his wing to "overfunding" because his "protégé".
- WWII pulls U.S. out of Great Depression but frames "union" big business owners, leaving many citizen losers.
- JFK presents New Frontier legislation (never passed). JFK points to how government was dictating business, replacing FDR's Business Advisory Council w/ "a Business Council". JFK's Housing Act of 1961 was a Mini Housing Act of 1961 (which was changed in 1965) after the creation of the Department of Urban Affairs and Housing, becoming HUD. JFK funds research to determine adequate housing size for single family housing (established by Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac) and Ginnie Mae.
- Richard Nixon was an alumnus at Harvard who worked with Kennedy.
- JFK is assassinated in Texas - Texas LBJ, Lewis presidency (the Kennedy's, especially Bobby, did not trust LBJ).
- LBJ, having New Frontier, implements Great Society as a "Trojan Horse" to "destroy the American family".
- LBJ declares "unconditional war on poverty" in 1964 while inadvertently perpetuating poverty by discouraging home ownership and housing development of "adequate" size for lower income citizens (as designed by FDR) and "redlining".
- Nixon chooses to create "competition" in medical field for healthcare providers. Healthcare was non-profit, and insured costs because they did their job by providing services to all in need - Nixon turned healthcare into a government controlled for-profit business that instructed people how to "game the system" (ie "gaming" the system the simplest, cheapest, healthy, and well-rested is Kaiser, Nixon's health maintenance organizations (HMOs) prove "all the incentives are toward less medical care, because the less care they give them, the more money they make." Nixon's Fiscal Address contained the "Nixon Shock" and that with international challenges that detained his success domestically - part of his Farewell Address contained the most accurate, informative, and insightful words of any president. He also brought light to the fact that "There are many different cases of conflict in the world, and the more we try to solve them, the more they seem to multiply."
- Since 1974 Congress has made minor changes to pension funding rules which make it likely that too little money is set aside by businesses through pension assets, and allowing the investment of these assets to go in risky stocks rather "their secure bonds, also causing businesses able to "smooth" earnings by "shifting" the value of their assets and record it whether they get it or not ("smoothing") allowing companies short on cash to delay contributions to pension funds. "As much as $100 billion from state and local government pension funds is invested in stocks. Because of the "smoothing" and other factors, they are obligated to calculate the pensions earned by civil servants even if the funds are lost through bad investments." "The concern that a hedge fund could put a big dent in your net worth, or even wipe you out, comes from the fear that a hedge fund could blow up and that forced the Federal Reserve intervene because he feared that one hedge "fund's recklessness had the potential to cause a worldwide economic crisis"
- Reagan takes office, perpetuating New Deal tactics, only he sets the market free under Marryl Lynch's full tage as a "Trojan Horse".
- From 1978 - 1996 (and onward) the majority of jobs created in the US have been low wage service industry jobs, which do not provide for cost of living.

BIG "BADDER" BUSINESS

1980+

Rising Monopolistic Profits

- In 1980 the bottom 90% earned two thirds of total U.S. income, but in 2000 they only earned a little more than half.
- In the 1960s the County of Los Angeles adopted an urban village or mini-city approach for areas under 40,000 inhabitants. "Each of several hundred villages repeated a pattern of a few blocks of stores, a post office, a few legislative centres, an office administrative office, the sheriff's or justices of the peace, no symbols or pretzles, none of the apparatus of government than a vote." While no master plan is a recipe for failure, these villages have had a unique ability to "hold onto their distinctness in spite of the pressures of the metropolis" by being able to more nearly reduce costs, improve education and services with less difficulty than urban megacities.
- Offshoring cuts U.S. manufacturing. Since "as recently as 1995 trade between the United States and China was balanced, with exports to China equal in value to imports from China. Today, imports from China are 5 times as enormously, but imports from China have grown five times faster, government data show." Trade deficit w/ China in 2004 = $196B, 2006 = $233B, and 80% of worldwide trade deficit of ~$714B in 2006 came from China, Japan, and Mexico. "Today, the U.S. is the only country in the Americas selling close to 5 percent of its wealth each year to sustain our appetite for oil and cheap manufactured goods, many of them made in China." - from Igh Jimmy Carter was.

SUBSIDIES & SCHEMES

The evolution of Great Crony Capitalism

- Enron, discontent with government regulations, sizing down the utility industry (which Bush supported) to turn the energy industry into a profit generating machine. "Enron's "Wholesale Plus" plan was to purchase power every seller pays the highest price - even when it is higher than the price at which it is willing to sell - the highest winning bid sets the price for all. This creates huge incentives to hold generating stations offline to restrict supply and raise prices."
- Bush leaves Arlington residents pay cost of constructing new Texas Rangers stadium through subsidies despite the sports team industry now of not being profitable without a $20 annual subsidy covered by taxpayers.
- Clinton's "Don't ask, don't tell" (DADT) in 1993 - "Government identifies more accurately divided between "corporatist" and "peoplists" underminning the two party Republicans and Democrats with overlapping agendas.
- Bush supports healthcare bill in 2003 that provides older citizens a prescription drug benefit program but prevents Medicare from negotiating with the pharmaceutical drugs (saving it an abuse of power) and passes costs on to taxpayers - $770B over 10 years (opposed to ~$400B prediction). "The bill was written in a way that hooked our foot for the interests of drug makers and health insurance companies but left great sector drug users and taxpayers out in the cold." "It was a bill that in no concept what was really going on was multimegaton." Note: it is estimated that "two-thirds of administrative costs of for profit insurers are spent on care denial."
- Bush (in 2004) claims most of his tax cuts went to low and middle income families, which was misleading. "Bush's tax cuts gave an average of the top 1% percent. The top 400 paid 17.5% in taxes ie Clinton's 22.2%, and those earning $100K - $200K per year paid 20.8% in taxes.
- Average annual income in the US is 270 million people. From 1980 to 2000 college tuition doubled from $3,000 to $6,000, but rose to 2 million "rich" people from $388,370 to $1,242,935, and even worse, annual income rose from $3,971,279 to 19,015,935 - 73,600% per year for 30,000 "superior" people.
- Between 1980 to 2000 college tuition doubled from $2,775 to $5,100 with student loan debt increasing from up to $6K in interest on a $20K loan (and continues to rise while average income doubled over the same time period).
- The dot com bubble resulted from inflated valuations of technology companies that resulted in a loss of 75% of their value.
- 2008 housing crash reveals how outdated the economy has become due to bad business and government practices. Banks, some of which have been linked to government for up to a century, created mortgage backed securities (packaged together many mortgages and selling together with various signs of financial ability per house loan. Once a certain number of debtors failed to make payment, as many did around 2008, the housing industry collapsed. Government has outlawed for banks ie Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac to "redlining" (which is a practice of refusing to lend out to "affordable housing" ensuring faster returns on bank loan investments and passive income for real estate owners while perpetuating greater dependence on government and/or continuous income for the majority of citizens).
- Obama's healthcare "reform" (2010) ensures people who out fall from employment so they can reduce healthcare expenses, which increases the employment rate but only with part time jobs for service industry workers.
- Hurricane Katrina hits - Lewis calls bill housing (in local states and city government) parties Lewis to recover because they speculate that this would lower property values.
- Hollers Rabbitte sold navigation system direct to Russian entity Volgan Communications, and facilitated illegal shipments to Russia through 2023 (starting 2010 during Obama's presidency). Rabbitte's associates include Guillermo Lefkowitz, Jeff Kaplan MD, Jack Vogel, and Alexander Gaston Bell (now AT&T) and Al Gerstl).
- 2025 - U.S. federal government moves operations to Oracle NetSuite, an enterprise resource planning (ERP) software. "Oracle's cloud-based ERP system is a game-changer platform - this empowers the government to have more accurate reporting, plan better, and to react faster based on events, which can be WWII Kaiser grade depending on the accuracy of information and data entered, as well as who is driving.
